Dear Mr Jones,

I am contacting you today further to our last telephone conversation, in order to remind you why it would be great for us to work together.

Indeed, The Clothing Manufacturers Association Of India regroups some of the top Indian clothing manufacturers and guarantees the quality of the products made. We are used to working with British apparel companies, so we know the standards required by your firm.

If you decide to outsource part of your production to India, you will benefit from important cost cuts as well as excellent quality products. You will also have access to India premium material which will open your production to new fabric, thus widening your range of products.

Finally, all our workers are English speakers, which makes communication with us easy. They are well-treated insofar as we implement a CSR strategy now.

So, it is time you opened up to India! Together, we can do great work.

Best regards,

Rajesh Singh, President of CMAI
